Communicated.

Editor Roundabout:
I thought after citing my last, in your issue of January 30th, I would close at least for the present, until something further developed.

A few days after the above issue I received a communication through the mail signed "John Smith," to which I made a short reply in your issue of February 6th. Before the above reply I got, in a confidential way, the author or authors of the "John Smith" letter. He or they failed to unmask themselves so far, but suffice it to say one of the preachers helped to get it up, in or after a consultation with other members of the Athletic Club. I wish to say, or rather wish to repeat what I have said in other letters, that I am personally interested or I would never have written a line about this club. I knew, or at least I believed, I would get a fight in my hands, not only with members of the club but with the preacher members of the club, and I knew my head was in jeopardy, as it takes but little to upset my nervous system, but being personally interested I determined to make the fight, determined to save my boy and to save others if I could.

So far I do not regret but feel proud of the effort, and the success attending same. I have the personal knowledge of more than one boy that I have saved from keeping late hours, and I have kept them from them for all time to come. I have made it a point to impress it on their minds that I was not their enemy but the best friend they had in the city.

One of them came to me one night in a very decided manner and told me I had to take him back what I had said about him. I asked what I had said. I replied I could recall nothing I had said personally as to him. He then said I alluded to him in one of my letters. I asked him what or which letter. He told me or tried to explain which, but I could not make an expression I had to retract, when I replied he had "waked up the wrong count" that "I wasn't afraid of the man that stood on two feet." When I met him again he told me I was right. His business had run down two-thirds, he had had a very busy business, and in this conversation I said live a different life; success yet awaited you; that the day was gone for a young or an old man to drink liquor and succeed in any business.

I believe this boy will be all right in the end, and so far as I can will take him by the hand at all times and give him an encouraging word. A word seems a very little thing but how, when and where it is said, is a thing, never to be forgotten. How well do I remember words spoken to me when a very small boy, fifty or sixty years ago.

I can call to mind men who have been dead forty or more years, whenever they met me, and I was to recognize me with the kindly good morning or good evening, John.

There is not a preacher in this Athletic Club that I am so intimate with and am their friend. This they know, as I said in my letter January 30th that I was known for my outspoken sentiments and I abhorred anything like deception.

It is not my intention to wound the feelings of those that are intimate with and am their friend. I am written only with an honest intention of doing good, and I now say if I should seemingly say anything to wound or hurt, I am a preacher, you are human beings—liable to wrong—none of us are perfect. I see as many wrongs in you as perhaps as you do in me. I am getting old and hold position or positions in life that others seeing my good conduct may be influenced and fall in with and take me by the hand—my hand being in the hand of Christ. He leading us all up to a higher life.

How is it with you preachers when you go into places doubtful and teach the boys lessons that, say the least, can be said as doubtful, are you not treading dangerous ground? Are you not teaching the boys games that tend to evil? If the game is learned the boys by the preachers did not extend beyond the walls of the Athletic Club, then I would say all right, but does not the very opposite of this prove glaringly true?

Where will the boys go outside of this club and play ball? Will they go to the billiard rooms are not connected with gambling and drinking saloons? Pool selling from the pools on horse racing down to little petty pool selling of a low order.

The boy that learns these games from the preachers I repeat preachers as often as I do from the simple fact I have talked with two of them and have heard from the other one, these three preachers being the only three in the town that belong to the club out of seven or eight) will not stop right here with this club and play these games no where else.

These boys may everyone be perfectly poor, honest boys, but will they stop here? Any game the boys may learn in this club, there will be one here and there now and then who will become an expert. This expert may be a perfectly just, an honest boy, but will he stay so? Can he re-

School District No. 34.

Editor Roundabout:

In the last week's issue of your paper we requested the County Superintendent to tell the patrons of School District No. 34 why the full number of people of said district was not reported to State Superintendent.

It seems that he wishes to remain silent, or perhaps he failed to read our request.

With your permission, we will make the request again, more fully, hoping that he will explain why we have been so badly treated.

Our district is a new one and was formed, February, 1890, from parts of Districts, No. 23 (Bridgeport), and No. 26 (Purinton), and is immediately between the two.

The County Superintendent gave the trustees a copy of the boundary of our district, which boundary is on record in his office.

The trustees took the census of pupil children in said boundary in April, 1890, which showed fifty-six pupils. Said number of pupils was reported to County Superintendent, and by him to State Superintendent.

In 1891 the trustees reported to County Superintendent fifty-six or eight, as being in said boundary. Right here is the trouble. Only thirty-two were reported to State Superintendent as being in District No. 34, with ten additions from District No. 26 (Purinton), as this district had reported to County Superintendent for same year, one hundred and seven.

Now, Mr. County Superintendent, what ten did you mean? Where are they to be found in District No. 26 (Purinton)?

The boundary has not been changed, or at any rate you have not notified the trustees of the fact if it has, as the law requires.

Where did these ten go to school? Not in District No. 34, to which district they were loaned, for it was an impossibility for these ten to know you had been so kind as to allow District No. 34 to draw their pro rata.

We copy for your inspection, and all to be made by you to Superintendent of Public Instruction for the years 1890 and 1891, of the district as follows:

District No. 23, Bridgeport, 1890, 104 scholars, 57 boys and 47 girls; 1891, 92 scholars, 45 boys and 47 girls.

District No. 34, South Benson, 1890, 56 scholars, 33 boys and 23 girls; 1891, 42 scholars, 22 boys and 20 girls.

District No. 26, Purinton, 1890, 100 scholars, 50 boys and 50 girls; 1891, 100 scholars, 45 boys and 55 girls.

If the County Superintendent had at heart the interest of the districts in the county, he would equalize more evenly, among the district the number of pupils.

If he could loan No. 34 ten pupils of No. 26, why could he not have loaned them more to make the minimum number, which is forty-five for a five months school.

Here are three schools with their respective school census, not over two and one-half miles apart, in fact the distance between two of them is not exceeding a mile. No. 23 on the one hand and No. 26 on the other, of No. 34, and both running over with pupils, as it were. No. 26 reported for 1890, one hundred and seven, and the same for 1891, as we have been informed by her chairman. All these pupils are right at hand and District No. 34 with only thirty-two, and that ten loaned by County Superintendent for which we got all of a four months school. There is a great difference in the number of pupils in these districts being no more than a mile apart, and the districts should be changed in boundary to equalize them; but we look forward with fear and trembling to the taking of the next census, for we may lose our ten and they be loaned to some other district to gladden the hearts of the patrons.

We wait with bated breath to see what we shall see.

Reported Adversely.

The Committee on Library and Public Buildings on Wednesday, through their chairman, Hon. R. K. Hart, reported adversely to the House the bill introduced by Mr. Charlton, of Louisville, to enable cities of the first class to issue bonds and raise money for the purpose of building a State Capitol. The report is a voluminous document and enters into the details of the bill, which refers to Louisville alone, as she is the only city of the first class in the State. The report recites that no assurance has been given that the city of Louisville favors the bill, nor that, if the matter is decided by popular vote, the non-taxpaying majority would not fasten an unwilling burden on the taxpaying minority. The committee is of opinion that it would not be right for the State of Kentucky, worth $540,000,000, and out of debt, to accept a gift from the city of Louisville, worth $85,000,000 and $9,500,000 in debt. It is held that the city can not incur the $1,000,000 additional debt contemplated by the bill, because it would necessitate a higher rate of taxation than is allowed under the Constitution. It is stated that Louisville has made no proposition to the Legislature, that the press of the city does not favor the measure, and that the passage of the bill would be equivalent to an offer from the State to move the capital to Louisville at the stipulated price. The committee is of the opinion that this would not comport with the dignity of the State. For these reasons and others set out in detail the committee is opposed to the passage of the bill. After some discussion the bill was recommitted to the Judiciary Committee.

William Skelley,

Of 11 Academy St., Jamestown, Wis., under date of May 23, says: Messrs. Kenyon & Thomas: This is to certify what I know about Dr. Hale's Household Ointment. I have had a bothersome sore on my lip for 15 years which terminated in a cancer. I had tried various remedies purporting to cure, but all without avail until I purchased a box of your Dr. Hale's Household Ointment and with two months' using it has entirely cured it, and I freely give this for the benefit of the people.

Truly yours,

Wm. SKELLEY.

Funeral Customs.

There is a demand for reform in funeral customs. For one thing the expensiveness should be greatly reduced, and the rich should set the example. For another, funeral sermons are useless, and often worse than useless, save in rare instances. The person who deserves eulogy does not need it, and the lessons appropriate to the occasion can be sufficiently pointed by reading and prayer. Then, too, the public display of the dead body (especially at church) should cease, and the last look by the kindred should be strictly private. It is a morbid and ghastly taste that wants to view the face of dead people. How much pleasanter to think of them as they appeared in the flush of health. And still further, there is reform needed in the time of leaving the cemetery. The most harrowing of all experiences is the sound caused by filling the grave. The custom should be to have the religious exercises, and then to leave before the filling begins.

While the subject is up there is still another word that needs to be said. It is a word in behalf of the minister. He is many times sent for by the people, who have no claim whatever upon his time, to administer consolation by a funeral service. A half day and often a whole day is consumed and no little expense incurred by hiring a conveyance or by paying his fare upon the cars. He goes through a trying and wearisome experience, for the draught on his sympathies is not small. And yet those for whom he has done the service, though abundantly able, often not only do not compensate him for the time they have taken from him, but sometimes they do not even thank him for his accommodation. They pay his traveling expenses. They seem to regard him in the light of a public convenience. If they took the same amount of time and labor from a doctor or lawyer they would pay big for it. Are the preacher's services of less value?

COUNTERFEITERS CAUGHT.

Attempt to Intimidate a Witness.

On Friday of last week a man by the name Chas. Clark, who resides near the Forks of Elkhorn, came to town, went to Deputy U. S. Marshal Con. McCarty, and stated that a gang of counterfeiters were operating in his neighborhood, that he had secured their confidence, found where they had a plaster mold of a dollar concealed and having obtained possession of it brought it with him and turned it over to the Marshal. A warrant was issued against Thos. S. Pulliam, the man Clark said had told him where the mold was concealed, who lives on Mr. Frank Church's place, near the Forks, and Deputy U. S. Marshal McCarty went out Tuesday and arrested him. After he was brought in Pulliam confessed that he had gotten the mold from a man by the name of Zach Morelan, living on Camp Pleasant Branch, near Peak's Mill; that Morelan had a mold for a nickel, and that he told him he could get enough glass and block tin for three dollars to make three hundred dollars; that he (Morelan) had made and passed many a dollar and nickel.

A warrant was also issued against Morelan and he was brought in and lodged in jail, the examining trial being set for Thursday.

Late Wednesday afternoon Clark, the informant, rode up to the Custom House in a pitiable plight, his clothing covered with mud, and the bottoms of his feet so sore and raw that he had to be lifted from his horse. He stated to Commissioner Chinn that he had been warned by his mother-in-law the night before that Miller Neal, at whose house he had found the mold concealed, Jim Neal and Henry Colson, friends of the parties arrested, had threatened to do him harm, and that he had better be on his guard. That the night before, being afraid to stay at home, he had gone to a straw tick to spend the night; that while there he heard Jim and Miller Neal and Colson go to his house, and not finding him there they came to the straw tick and he ran to save his life. He had on a pair of old shoes, which were not securely tied, and they came off during his flight, so that in running over the rough and frozen ground without his shoes his feet were horribly lacerated and bruised. He said that the Neals and Colson following him over the hills and through the bushes all during Tuesday night and until about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, when he finally eluded them, procured a horse and came into town. He was taken to a boarding house, and Thursday morning was unable to walk from his injuries, consequently the trial of Pulliam and Morelan was postponed until to-day.

The men charged with attempting to kill or intimidate Clark had all been summoned as witnesses against Pulliam and Morelan, and when they came in to attend the examining trial Thursday were arrested upon the charge of intimidating a government witness. They gave bond for their appearance next week.

The plaster mold brought in by Clark is of a dollar of the issue of 1884, and looks very much like an amateur affair, though had evidently been used. Morelan managed to destroy the nickel mold before he was arrested.

Shot at Eddyville.

A telegram was received here by Messrs. Mason & Ford Co. on Saturday night, announcing that a difficulty had occurred at the Branch Penitentiary at Eddyville, between Mr. Samuel O. Nunn, Deputy Warden, and Mr. Z. J. Montgomery formerly of this city, in which Montgomery was shot in the leg by Nunn. It seems that the chapel in the penitentiary was destroyed by fire on Saturday, and during the progress of the fire an altercation arose between the two as to how the fire should be managed when Montgomery slapped Nunn in the mouth. The latter drew his pistol and fired twice at the former, one ball grazing Montgomery's cheek and the other inflicting a flesh wound in his leg.

Mr. Montgomery left here about the first of December to become General Manager for the Mason & Ford Co., who are the lessees of the convict labor in the Branch Penitentiary, at Eddyville.

A Polar Light.

Saturday evening about seven o'clock the northern heavens were brilliantly illuminated by Aurora Borealis and attracted a great deal of attention. Some one told a little fellow on the South Side that the world had come to an end and was burning up, which frightened him nearly out of his senses.

A Man of Fame.

The visits of Dr. Walter are becoming more and more important every month. Hundreds of patients have been cured by his treatment. As a professional man none stand higher and as a student none more thorough. Dr. H. holds diplomas from some of the best colleges of America and has practiced in the largest institutions in the world. May his trips be long and prosperous.

The Check Photographed.

As the check received by the Governor for the State's share of the direct tax refunded by the Government was for the largest amount ever received by the State, it was taken to the gallery of Mr. H. G. Mattern and a photograph taken of it, which will be preserved in the archives of the State. It was drawn in favor of the Governor of Kentucky, for $600,461.03, upon the Sub Treasury in Cincinnati.

Sold Her Home.

Postmaster James M. Saffell, purchased on Saturday from Mrs. H. I. Todd her residence, on the corner of Wapping and Washington streets, for six thousand five hundred dollars. Mrs. Todd and her daughter, Miss Maria, will remove to Louisville and make their home with her son, Mr. George D. Todd.

Mr. Saffell will occupy the house on the first of April and his country home will be for rent.

Postponed Until Next Week.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Wesley Watson, the negro charged with shooting Miss Tenie McEwan of this city, upon an excursion train last fall, was postponed in the Jefferson Circuit Court on Tuesday until next month to await evidence for the defense.

Misses Tenie McEwan, Sarah and Lydie Mangan and Messrs. Thos. P. Rogers, Harry Bacon and Harry Case went down to Louisville Tuesday to testify against him and were recognized to appear on the 25th of March.

Death of Col. McCarty.

Col. H. M. McCarty, of Nicholasville, editor of the Jessamine Journal, died at his home in that place Monday morning at 3 o'clock, from the effects of a paralytic stroke sustained last November. He rallied from the first attack, but had a relapse and gradually sank until his death.

Col. McCarty was one of the most popular journalists of the State, and had been connected with various papers during his career. He was at one time editor of the Louisville Courier. He was well-known to our people from having been Assistant Secretary of State under Governor Knott, and by his sunny disposition and agreeable manners made many warm friends during his residence here.

Bible Society Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Franklin County Bible Society will be held at the Southern Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, February 28th, at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Hemphill, of Louisville, has been invited to deliver an address, has accepted the invitation and will be present. No services will be held at the First Presbyterian, Methodist, Christian and Baptist Churches and all those congregations will unite in the meeting.

A collection for the benefit of the Society will be taken up at the morning service in all the Churches which will participate in the meeting, instead of at night as heretofore. Rev. Dr. Savage, agent of the American Bible Society, will, of course, be on hand to give an account of the work accomplished by the Society during the past year.

CAPT. JOHN STOUT, The Brave Pilot, Dead.

The following dispatch to the Courier-Journal, tells of the death of a brave Frankfort boy, who has made his home in the South for a number of years:

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Feb. 14.—Capt. John Stout died this afternoon at his residence in this city, after a life career as a pilot on the Mississippi, distinguished by acts of conspicuous bravery on two most trying occasions. He was at the wheel of the Robert E. Lee when she was burned at Yucatan Plantation, in 1882, and he stuck to his blazing ship to the very last, barely saving his own life by sliding down the hog chains, after saving a score of lives by remaining at the wheel and holding his boat to the bank. He received a valuable gold watch as a token of appreciation for his heroism on that occasion.

Again, in 1886, Capt. Stout had a still more narrow escape, being on board the steamer J. M. White when she was burned above Bayou Sara. He had to jump overboard, and was picked up almost lifeless and with his health permanently shattered.

Capt. Stout was a brother of Mrs. J. W. Cannon, of this city, and was born and raised here. In early life he commenced to learn the printer's art in the Old Commonwealth Office, but took a dislike to the business, gave it up, went to New Orleans, entered the employ of his brother-in-law, Capt. John W. Cannon, who then resided in that city and was running a line of boats on the Mississippi, soon became an expert pilot, and continued to follow steamboating, as the dispatch conveying the sad news of his death shows.

He leaves a widow and eight children to mourn his loss.

The Decision Affirmed.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the decision of the Franklin Circuit Court in the case of Messrs. S. H. F. Miller and Walter Evans against the Secretary of State and Public Printer, to test the validity of the new Constitution.

In delivering the opinion, Chief Justice Holt says that the court will not consider the question as to whether the plaintiffs have cause of action, as the matter is so important that it requires to be settled by an opinion on the merits of the case.

He then goes on to say, in effect, that the new Constitution was submitted to the people by the Convention when the clause in the Constitution of 1849 relating thereto does not require it; that the amendments made after that submission are not invalid on account of the people not voting upon them, but that even if they were so the remedy belongs to the legislature and not the courts. As all the departments of the government have recognized the instrument, and are working according to it, it is now the recognized organic law, and amendments to it must be made in the way prescribed in the Constitution itself.

Judges Pryor and Lewis concur, but Judge Bennett delivers a separated opinion.

Judge Kemp Goodloe Dead.

Judge J. Kemp Goodloe, of Louisville, died in Frankfort on Friday of last week and the remains were buried in Cave Hill Cemetery, Louisville, on Sunday. Judge Goodloe represented Woodford county in the Legislature of 1869-70 and was afterwards a senator from that district. In early life he was a pupil of the late B. B. Sayre, read law in this city with the late Judge Thomas B. Monroe, and upon being admitted to the bar commenced the practice of his profession here, in partnership with Gen. Thos. H. Taylor, now of Louisville. When the Mexican war broke out he volunteered in Capt. Tom Marshall's company and served one year. On his return from Mexico he removed to Versailles, where he resided until the close of the late war, when he located in Louisville and formed a law partnership with Gen. John M. Harlan, now a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court. He was one of nature's noblemen and one of the most popular men ever in the Legislature.

Consumption.

The most to be dreaded of all diseases often begins in a simple cold, simply neglected. No cough should be allowed to run a single day without using the finest remedy in the world, Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It acts like magic, strengthening the lungs, allaying all irritation and cures a cough where all other remedies fail. 25 and 50c. per bottle at Carpenter's South Side Drug Store.

ONE ENJOYS
Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, head-aches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action, and free from all dangerous ingredients, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

Goodman-Moore.

The following notice of the marriage of Miss Eleanor Moore, formerly of this city, and Dr. Harry Goodman is taken from the Louisville Courier-Journal of Thursday:

The first Christian Church was filled last night with friends who had gathered to witness the solemnization of the marriage of Dr. Harry Goodman and Miss Eleanor Moore. The wedding was an event of more than ordinary interest, and the ceremony, though simple, was effective in all its appointments, and was impressively conducted by Rev. E. W. Powell, pastor of the church.

The bride was attended by Miss Jane Swiger Moore, her sister, who acted as maid of honor, and six bridesmaids, Misses Julia Griswold, Mattie Freeman, of Woodford county, Bessie Newman, Minnie VanDerwey, of Frankfort, and Mary Castleman. Dr. J. M. Ray was the best man, and the groomsmen were Messrs. Chas. Wintersmith, John H. Thomas, Will H. Wilson, W. R. Griffith, of Frankfort, Stewart Bell and Harris Johnston.

The bridesmaids wore soft gowns of china silk; two in white; two in yellow, and two in blue, and carried bouquets of pink roses. The bride was preceded by Master Marcus Blakemore, of Frankfort, in a dainty costume of white, with his long blonde curls, made an exceedingly picturesque page. His duty was to hold the bride's bouquet while the ring was being placed on her finger. Masters Bailey Grinstead and Garvin Thomas carried the ribbons that separated the guests in evening toilets from those who were only invited to the church. These were in dark dress suits with white ties. The maid of honor wore a stylish toilet of sea-fam silk, trimmed with ribbon and Valenciennes lace; the bride wore a handsome gown of white rep silk, trimmed with duchesse lace. Her flowers were orange blossoms.

The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock, after which there was a reception at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Eugene Moore, on East Jacob street. The invitations were limited to the bridal party, the faculty of the University of Louisville and the immediate families of the bride and groom. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and at midnight an elaborate supper was served. There were a number of very handsome presents, many congratulations and some guests from different points in the State, among whom were Mrs. Oscar Blakemore, of Frankfort; Miss Mary Etta Smith and Mr. John W. Williams, also of Frankfort; Dr. and Mrs. Risque and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vetter, of Scott county; Mrs. W. P. Woolfolk, of Versailles, and Mrs. George Hughes, of Lee's Fork, and Mrs. Goodman left at 2 a. m. for the East, expecting to be absent several weeks.

The Old Original Remedy Leads.

Sick people should not be deceived by pretensions who talk about "Microbi," "germs," "bacteria," &c., to sell their preparations, thus preventing people from buying the original tested medicine. "Radium's Microbe Killer" is what you need. It is now, and for years has been, making more cures than all other remedies combined. Read their advertisement in this paper. Don't be deceived.

To the Mardi Gras.

On account of the Mardi Gras, the L. & N. R. will sell round trip tickets to Mobile, Alabama, and New Orleans, Louisiana, February 26 to 29 inclusive, good returning until March 15, at one fare. For further information apply to W. W. ALEXANDER, Agent.

King's Royal Germetour.

Pre-eminently the medicine of the century. Its phenomenal success as a seller and favorite with the people is the acknowledged wonder of the medicine world. Based upon the Germ theory of Diseases, it is unique, modern, and at once popular, commands itself as a necessary household remedy. It advertises best by its use. Specific for all Catarrhal diseases, a Nerve Tonic and Blood Purifier, it is without doubt the most reliable germ destroyer in existence, and to the extent that the germ theory is correct, King's Royal Germetour is the remedy. It is no accident but is the result of fifteen years study of medical genius. For sale by Chapman & Williams. 19

Two doctors of an Eastern town, To learning much inclined, Were called to see a gentleman, Whose health was undermined. The first one used his stethoscope Upon his patient's neck. "You cannot live," he said, "I fear." "I fear," quoth he, "as all may see, Your kidneys are affected." "These men must argue loud and long, Yet the patient owes recovery Not to their doctors, but to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

There are some patent medicines that are more marvelous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure everything. Everybody who then, feels "run-down," "played out," they're not sick, but no power to generate vitality. They're not sick enough to call a doctor, but just too sick to be well. That's where the right kind of a patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten.

We put in our claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's the cheapest blood-purifier, sold through druggists, no matter how many doses are ordered for a dollar.

Why? Because it's sold on a peculiar plan, and you only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?
